The Paragraph Pulpit.

BY EDWIN A. HUMBALL.

"I will give them a heart to know me." Kindly notice that it does not say, "I will give them an intellect to know me." Everyone of us could erect an altar "to the Unknown God." He, however, is not the object of knowledge, but of the feelings of the heart.

Religion is originally poetry; it is the great poem of mankind. Thus, however, much the intellect enters into our religion, it is for the heart that religion exists. Then heart demands an object for its aspiration. It was not a church apologist, but Voltaire who said, "If there is no God, then we must create one."

This is what the heart does and the loving Father whom we worship is the guest of the heart, not the demonstration of the intellect, for as one great scientist says, "No cosmic problem is solved by the cerebral function (we call emotion)." The heart hopes, feels, loves, aspires, worships, never proves. Feelings may be untrustworthy, but they are not to be discarded. They call for true direction as well as the intellect. They must ever be within the power of the will and should ever supply the poetry of life.

"Let knowledge grow from more to more, But more of reverence in us dwell; Till mind and heart according well, Make music vast than before."

An Old-Time Guide.

James Gordon, Who Accompanied Starr King on Many Tramps.

Rev. Thomas Starr King, who did more to awaken interest in the White Mountains than any man of his time, in his famous letters to the Boston Transcript over fifty years ago, frequently referred to James Gordon, his guide and companion on many tramps over the vast wildernesses and over the rugged summits. Frequent inquiries have been made as to who Gordon was, and to those who admired Starr King and are curious as to the identity of Gordon, the following imperfect sketch will supply the information in part.

James Gordon was the son of Joseph Gordon of Fryeburg and Mary Dresser of Stow, and was born in Stow in July, 1808. He died in Gorham, Oct. 7, 1890, at the age of 82 years and 3 months.

Little is known of Mr. Gordon's life previous to his coming to Gorham, where his brother, the late Josephus Chaudler Gordon, preceded him. Old residents of Gorham think he moved here from Whitefield. He was a carpenter by trade, and worked at it when there was work in that line and he was not engaged in hunting, fishing, trapping and guiding.

Those men who remember Mr. Gordon were boys then, and were impressed with his passion for trapping, fishing and hunting. Former Senator Pearson G. Evans recalls the large number of sable that Mr. Gordon killed on Sugar hill, and Isaac A. Peabody also remembers his inclination to hunt and trap. The latter speaks of Mr. Gordon frequently accompanying Rev. Thomas Starr King on his tramps over the mountains and thinks the two cut the first path to the summit of Mount Hayes.

Mr. Peabody says Gordon started with Starr King for Mount Madison or one of the Presidential peaks but a short time before the former's death. Gordon was taken ill on the trip and had to return home. His illness terminated in typhoid fever and death came in a short time.

Mr. Peabody recalls how an official of the Grand Trunk, whose family spent their summers at the Alpine house, hired Gordon to act as guide for his son, keeping him employed much of the season, for which he was paid $5 a day.

Mr. Gordon frequently held town office. He was clerk in 1843, 1853 and 1854. He was third selectman in 1843, 1844 and 1850, and second selectman at the time of his death in 1890.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon had eight children, six boys and two girls. Sylvester, the oldest boy, a brakeman on the Grand Trunk, was killed Dec. 10, 1886, at Back Cove bridge near Portland, the train he was braking running into the open draw. He was the only one of the crew killed. The late George B. Bilborn of Gorham was the engine driver and the late Lyander V. Philbrook of Portland (a native of Shelburne) was the second brakeman. He was the first man killed in a train wreck on this division of the Grand Trunk. His age was 21 years and 7 months.

In the early sixties Mrs. Gordon and the other sons and daughters moved to the west.

Joseph, the second son, was a locomotive fireman and was killed by a boiler explosion in Pennsylvania. Benjamin died about twelve years ago in Lehigh port, Ind. George, Eldon and James have never been heard from by Gorham people.

The two daughters, Susan and Mary, have not been heard of for years, but Lena M. Peabody heard some time ago from Mary. Both were married and lived in the west.

The Gordons lived for some time in what is called the boarding house at the upper village, and later lived in what is now called the Head Lary house.

In 1877 the late Charles E. Lowe of Randolph wrote a series of articles under the head of "Mountain Rambles." He makes frequent reference to both Gordon and Starr King.

"Did you ever follow the Gordon trail over Mounts Madison, Adams, Jefferson and Clay to the top of Mount Washington? This path was first cut by James Gordon, well known as the Rev. Starr King's faithful guide and companion long years ago. They are both at rest now—regardless in pace. We do not mean to say that a path was made all the way over these mountains, but that a trail was blazed from the Pinkham road to the ledge on Mount Madison."

"Kitt's ravine is situated on the north side of Mount Adams and wholly within its bounds. It is one (if not the largest) of the ravines around the White mountains, and has, as yet, been the least explored, very few venturing through it. The Rev. Thomas Starr King, with James Gordon as guide, were probably the first to venture through. They were nine hours in going a distance of three miles. They followed the trail up to the mouth of the ravine and then up the rugged boulders, and then out at the southeast side."—[Gorham Mountaineer.

EAST STONEHAM.

Johnnie Files is at home from Norway. Mrs. Carver is at work for Dustin McAllister.

Horace Schanz of North Newry is visiting friends in this place.

John McAllister and Eugene Evans shot two deer in the lake, Nov. 28.

Merton McAllister is at home from his school in Norway on a short vacation. School commenced in the Bartlett neighborhood, Dec. 2d, taught by Bertha Skinner of Waterford. Miss Skinner has taught the past two terms and is liked very much by both parents and pupils. She is an accomplished and successful teacher.

Around the hearthstones, Thanksgiving day, many families gathered to partake of the bountiful food that our mothers and grandmothers take so much pride in. They are pleasant memories of happy days. A few of the gatherings in Stoneham were at J. Bartlett's, Frank McAllister's, John Files' and Fernando McAllister's.

Any fool can destroy trees. They can not run away; and if they could they would still be destroyed, chased and hunted down as long as a gun or a dagger could be got out of their dark hides, branching horns or magnificent bole backbones.

Few that fell trees plant them; nor would plant anything like the noble primeval forests. During a man's life only a few trees, tens of centuries old that have been destroyed. It took more than 3,000 years to make some of the trees in these western woods—trees that are still standing in perfect strength and beauty, waving and singing in the mighty forests of the Sierra. God has cared for these trees, saved them from drought, disease, avalanches, and a thousand straining, leveling tempests and floods; but he cannot save them from fools—only Uncle Sam can do that.—John Muir of California.

Watch Your Tongue.

If Furred and Coated, It Is a Warning of Trouble to Come.

When it is the morning after the night before, you do not have to look at your tongue to know that the stomach is upset, the head is aching with a dull rhythm, and that all the world looks black and dreary.

It may have been lobster Newburgh, Welsh rarebit or some other tasty dish that looked much better at night than the morning after. There is no need to look at the tongue thermometer then for symptoms of trouble. You naturally go to your box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, and with one of the little relievers bring joy and gladness to the physical system.

The real time to watch the tongue is all of the time. If it is coated with white fur, or possibly with dark trimmings, even though the stomach does not tell you by the acute pains of indigestion that it needs help, yet the coating shows that you are getting into a bad way and that there is need of Mi-o-na.

Mi-o-na is so positive, so sure, so reliable in its curative action upon the stomach that Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store, the local agent, gives an absolute guarantee with every 50-cent box he sells to refund the money unless the remedy gives absolute and complete satisfaction.

45-49 Maine's fire losses this year are estimated by the insurance commissioner to exceed $2,500,000.

Austin Warren took Thanksgiving dinner at Alfonso Hilton's.

Mr. Bartlett returned home about ten o'clock from a neighbors and retired for the night, the other members of having already retired. Mr. Bartlett soon began to smell smoke and on investigating, found the upper part of the house in flames.

He gave the alarm and soon the neighbors had gathered to assist in saving the furniture and other buildings. All the furniture in the lower portion of the house was saved and much from other portions but considerable was lost. The shed and barn which adjoined the house was saved by use of snow. The house was the oldest in the village, a large square house with central chimney, lost about $2000; insured for $6000. Mr. Bartlett has moved his family into the Madison Bartlett house nearby.

Killed on Railroad.

The family of Thomas Kimball of North Albany received the sad intelligence of the death of their son, Leon Kimball, at Shelburne, N. H., this Tuesday morning. He was foreman of the railroad section at that place and was killed while assisting to remove the hand-car from the track to clear a wild engine. He leaves a wife.

D. S. Hastings of Bethel has returned from Montana.

Mrs. Lauretta Valentine is visiting friends in Massachusetts.

Susie and Florence Twitcheil are visiting relatives in Massachusetts.

Florence Parker, who has been critically ill, is much improved in health.

Mrs. James M. Seavey continues seriously ill at her home on Church street.

Mrs. William Torrey of Massachusetts is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. L. Holt, in Bethel.

Bethel Lodge, No. 97 will hold a public installation of officers at Odd Fellows hall, Thursday evening.

N. E. Richardson has taken the contract to light the street lamps in Bethel village in place of E. H. Foster.

Lizzie and Antoinette Stearns have gone to Auburn to remain indefinitely with their brother, Henry Stearns.

E. P. Warner and family have moved from Portland to the Felt farm near Bethel, recently purchased by Mr. Warner.

Mrs. Martha Brooks of Grafton is in Bethel where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. James A. Howard.

H. A. Packard has taken over the undertaking business formerly conducted by E. C. Staples in Bethel. Mr. Staples will return to Oxford.

Wednesday evening F. B. Schoonover gave a personal experience lecture on his travels in Egypt. The lecture was interesting. The proceeds went to the church organ fund of the Methodist society.

Mr. Copeland is shipping off his potatoes.

J. M. Philbrook took a car of stock to Brighton last Monday.

Mary G. Chapman will soon return to Portland for the winter.

Bethel people enjoyed the finest sleighing for Thanksgiving.

Rev. Mr. Mansfield of Camden will supply in the Universalist church, Sunday.

Mrs. S. C. Staples has returned to Oxford where Mr. Staples will follow on his return from a deer hunt in Grafton.

Ira Mason, late of Albany, died at less than 65 years of age yet was permitted to look upon 63 living grandchildren at one time.

D. S. Hastings has arranged to put in a large field of wheat at Montpelier. He and Mrs. Hastings will go there in the spring for the season.

Paul Thurston came home for Thanksgiving from Bates college where he is working his second year. He fell back one year by sickness, otherwise this would have been his third.

Alton Richardson has returned from Orono, where he has been working and studying the business of poultry raising. He has purchased land of E. C. Rowe and will work poultry business to some extent.

L. L. Mason and family of Portland ate Thanksgiving dinner with his mother, Mrs. O. M. Mason, at the old homestead in this village. It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Mason will spend the winter in California.

The deer hunters work the harvest for smallest pay of any class of people around Bethel. O. A. Buck, C. S. Stearns and Willie Randall are Grafton, hunting near Saddle Back where Mr. Buck has a camp.

Circumstances transpiring during the past month goes to fully substantiate the former opinion entertained by the best citizens that Prof. F. E. Hauscom is master of the situation as the principal of Gould academy.

Several pleasant homes in this village formerly without children have adopted a home for children. There are yet more who would experience more real home life if they had a child or children in them, even by adoption.

One of our native born citizens 75 years of age, who has been noted for his industrious habits, went to his daily labors last Thursday not knowing it was Thanksgiving day till informed by a passer-by just before noon. His excuse was that he "was a little hard of hearing and could not always hear what people were talking about."

The Heart Can't Stand
Rheumatic Acid
Poisoning

To Free and Correct the Blood a
Uric-O Treatment is Advised

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains through the chest around the region of the heart, it means that poisonous uric and rheumatic acids are there ready to spring and grip tightly the muscles controlling the heart's action. Do not neglect these warnings, they are the danger signals Nature flashes to you for help. You must neutralize and drive these dangerous poisons from the system or sooner or later they will overcome you.

The only true way to cure Rheumatism is to get at it from the inside with Uric-O. It acts with marvelous swiftness upon the muscles, kidneys and blood. Clears out the sand-like deposits in the muscles, forces the kidneys to perform those duties for which they were designed and neutralizes the acid within the blood.

Your physician will admit that this is the only true way to cure Rheumatism permanently, and should know that Uric-O is the one remedy that will do it successfully and permanently. Uric-O is a liquid taken internally, 3 times daily, and does not contain any morphia, opium or other so-called "pain deadeners." It is good for Rheumatism in any form. Sciatica, Muscular, Inflammatory and Arterial Rheumatism all yield readily to Uric-O. Write the makers of the remedy and they can tell you of many wonderful cures that Uric-O has made right here in your own town.

One bottle for 75c and $1.00 the bottle or you can obtain a trial bottle free by writing to The Smith Drug Co., 255 Smith Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

Uric-O is sold and personally recommended in Norway by Noyes Drug Store.
